High Level Interactive Launch of UNODC's Global Report on Trafficking

Wednesday, December 21, 2016 ~ UN Headquarters, New York

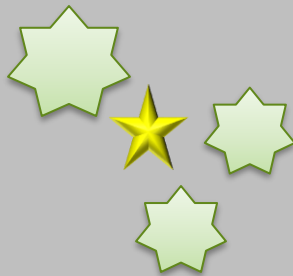

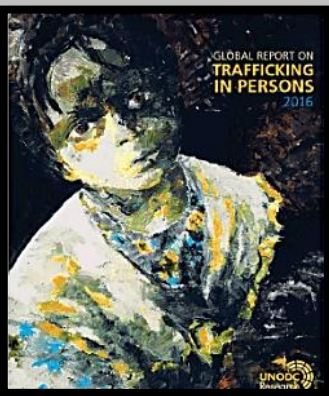

The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime met to discuss a new approach to global trafficking. Through the Global Report which is mandated by the UN General Assembly, Resolution 64/293 gave the UNODC the ability to collect data and report vital information regarding the current human trafficking patterns both domestically and internationally. In attendance were known speakers such as the UN Under Secretary General Yury Fedotov, the Executive Director of UNODC, Representatives from France to the UN and UNODC Goodwill Ambassador for human trafficking, Ms. Nadia Murad. The international community wishes to address these patterns and successfully assess a plan of action for addressing a plan of action in 2017 for combating these global issues.
